to the regulations and standards on ethics and independence applicable to audits of financial statements under Italian law. We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion.

Key audit matters

Key audit matters are those matters that, in our professional judgement, were of most significance in our audit of the financial statements of the current period. These matters were addressed in the context of our audit of the financial statements as a whole, and in forming our opinion thereon, and we do not provide a separate opinion on these matters.

Key Audit Matters

Auditing procedures performed in response to key audit matters

Investments in subsidiaries

Note 5 "Investments" to the financial statements as of 31 December 2025.

In the financial statements as of 31 December 2025 investments in subsidiaries, valued at cost, amounted to Euro 173 million.

The Company verifies annually if there is an indication that investments in subsidiaries might be impaired and, when necessary, compares the carrying amount of the investments to their respective recoverable amounts, in compliance with the requirements established by the International Accounting Standard IAS 36 "Impairment of Assets".

The recoverable amount of investments in subsidiaries has been determined through the value in use, calculated by discounting the future cash flows forecasted in the 2026-2030 plan and the estimate of a terminal value.

As of 31 December 2025, and as a result of the analysis performed, the directors recognized in the separate income statement an impairment loss amount of Euro 1,4 millions in relation to the

We have performed an understanding and evaluation of the internal controls in place over the impairment testing of investments in subsidiaries, in order to assess their adequacy.

We have tested the operating effectiveness of such controls.

As part of the procedures performed, with the support of experts belonging to the PwC network, we have:

- verified the adequacy of the impairment testing model used in accordance with IAS 36 "Impairment of assets" requirements and evaluation practices;
- verified the method used by the directors to identify and evaluate potential impairment indicators of the investments in subsidiaries. We compared book values of investments with the corresponding equity values as of 31 December 2025 and compared the business performance of each investment with forecasts set out by the directors;

equity investment in subsidiary Sifar Group Srl.

We consider the valuation of investments in subsidiaries a key audit matter due to its materiality and the level of judgement required by the directors in the estimation process with reference to potential indicators of impairment and the estimate of the recoverable amount.

- verified the valuation method utilized to perform the impairment test and the mathematical accuracy of the model;
- assessed the reasonableness of the key assumptions used with focus on growth rates, discount rates and working capital trends, including benchmarking;
- verified the sensitivity analyses carried out by directors with reference to the impact on the recoverability of investments in case of changes in the relevant assumptions of cash flows or the discount rate used;
- verified the completeness and accuracy of the disclosures reported based on international financial reporting standards requirements, also considering information and data obtained during our audit.

Revenue recognition net of rebates and discounts

Note 2.4.2 "Critical accounting estimates and assumptions - Sales adjustments and credit notes to be issued toward customers" to the financial statements as of 31 December 2025

The Company operates in the 'business-to-business' (B2B) distribution of Information Technology (IT) and consumer electronics.

In line with industry's practices, the Company recognizes rebates and discounts to customers based on contractual agreements in place. Such adjustments, including the year-end estimate, are accounted for as a reduction in revenues and account receivables.

Revenue recognition net of rebates and discounts required audit focus due to the significant number of transactions and elements of uncertainty inherent in the estimation process

We gained an understanding and evaluated the internal control system implemented by the Company related to the revenue recognition process under IFRS 15 "Revenue from Contracts with Customers", including adjustments for rebates and discounts towards customers.

As part of our procedures, we have:

- validated the operating effectiveness of key controls identified, in certain instances engaging experts in IT systems and business process analysis belonging to the PwC network;
- analyzed the main commercial agreements in place with customers to verify that related contractual terms were properly evaluated by the directors in the revenue's adjustments computation;

- verified the reasonableness of the directors' assumptions by comparing prior year's estimate against actual results and comparing estimates as of 31 December 2025 with credit notes issued in 2026;
- carried out testing procedures on a sample basis and analyzed the supporting documentation obtained to verify the existence, completeness, accuracy and cut-off of transactions;
- performed external confirmation procedures on a sample basis with the aim of obtaining additional evidence to support trade receivables booked and related revenues.

Accounting of costs adjustments from suppliers

Note 2.4.2 "Critical accounting estimates and assumptions - Costs adjustments and credit notes due from vendors" to the financial statements as of 31 December 2025

The Company has agreements in place with suppliers for reimbursements of joint marketing activities, contractual stock protection, rebates for achieving targets and incentives of various kind.

These adjustments, including the year-end estimate, are accounted for as a reduction in costs and account payables.

The accounting for costs adjustments from suppliers required audit focus, due to the significant number of transactions and elements of uncertainty inherent to the estimation process

We gained an understanding and evaluated the key controls implemented by the Group related to adjustments from suppliers.

As part of our procedures, we have:

- validated the operating effectiveness of the key controls identified, in certain instances engaging experts in IT systems and business process analysis belonging to the PwC network;
- analyzed the main commercial agreements in place with suppliers to verify that related contractual terms were properly evaluated by the directors in the costs' adjustments computation;

- carried out testing procedures on a sample basis through the analysis of the supporting documentation and the contractual terms in place with suppliers;
- verified the reasonableness of the directors' assumptions by comparing prior year's estimate against actual results and comparing estimates as of 31 December 2025 with credit notes received after year-end;
- performed external confirmation procedures on a sample basis with the aim of obtaining additional evidence to support trade payables and related costs.

Contingent liabilities and Provisions for risks and charges

Note 26 "Non-current provisions and other liabilities" to the financial statements as of 31 December 2025

The Company is involved in several tax disputes.

Consistent with previous years, the directors, with the support of external legal and tax counsel, do not consider the risk of occurrence of significant liabilities related to these matters to be probable. As such, no specific provision has been recorded. The Company directors' judgement is high in connection with these disputes, specifically with reference to the assessment of the uncertainties related to their expected results.

Management's assessment of risks related to these proceedings was an area of focus in the context of our audit activities. This was due to the complexity and uncertainty of management's estimate.

As part of our procedures, we:

- analyzed management's process to identify and evaluate contingent liabilities and estimate related accruals. Among other things, these activities have been performed through various discussions held with Esprinet's directors with the aim of gaining an understanding of the contingent liabilities' estimation process, the defensive strategy and actions which have been defined based on claims received;
- analyzed supporting documentation underlying the facts of these disputes and have obtained confirmations directly from the company's external tax and legal counsel;
- verified the adequacy of the financial statements disclosure based on international financial reporting standards requirements, also considering information and data obtained during our audit.

Responsibilities of the directors and the board of statutory auditors for the financial statements

The directors are responsible for the preparation of financial statements that give a true and fair view in accordance with IFRS Accounting Standards as issued by the International Accounting Standards Board and adopted by the European Union, as well as with the regulations issued to implement article 9 of Legislative Decree 38/2005 and, in the terms prescribed by law, for such internal control as they determine is necessary to enable the preparation of financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

The directors are responsible for assessing the Company's ability to continue as a going concern and, in preparing the financial statements, for the appropriate application of the going concern basis of accounting, and for disclosing matters related to going concern. In preparing the financial statements, the directors use the going concern basis of accounting unless they either intend to liquidate the Company or to cease operations or have no realistic alternative but to do so.

The board of statutory auditors is responsible for overseeing, in the terms prescribed by law, the Company's financial reporting process.

Auditor's responsibilities for the audit of the financial statements

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an auditor's report that includes our opinion. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance but is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with International Standards on Auditing (ISA Italia) will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. Misstatements can arise from fraud or error and are considered material if, individually or in the aggregate, they could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of users taken on the basis of the financial statements.

As part of our audit conducted in accordance with International Standards on Auditing (ISA Italia), we exercised our professional judgement and maintained professional scepticism throughout the audit. Furthermore:

- We identified and assessed the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error; we designed and performed audit procedures responsive to those risks; we obtained audit evidence that is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion. The risk of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from fraud is higher than for one resulting from error, as fraud may involve collusion, forgery, intentional omissions, misrepresentations, or the override of internal control.
- We obtained an understanding of internal control relevant to the audit in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Company's internal control.
- We evaluated the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of accounting estimates and related disclosures made by the directors.
- We concluded on the appropriateness of the directors' use of the going concern basis of accounting and, based on the audit evidence obtained, whether a material uncertainty exists related to events or conditions that may cast significant doubt on the Company's ability to continue as a going concern. If we conclude that a material uncertainty exists, we are required to draw attention in our auditor's report to the related disclosures in the financial statements or, if such disclosures are inadequate, to modify our opinion. Our conclusions are based on the audit evidence obtained up to the date of our auditor's report. However, future events or conditions may cause the Company to cease to continue as a going concern.
- We evaluated the overall presentation, structure and content of the financial statements, including the disclosures, and whether the financial statements represent the underlying transactions and events in a manner that achieves fair presentation.

We communicated with those charged with governance, identified at an appropriate level as required by ISA Italia, regarding, among other matters, the planned scope and timing of the audit and significant audit findings, including any significant deficiencies in internal control that we identified during our audit.

We also provided those charged with governance with a statement that we complied with the regulations and standards on ethics and independence applicable under Italian law and communicated with them all relationships and other matters that may reasonably be thought to bear on our independence, and where applicable, actions taken to eliminate the related risks, or safeguards applied.

From the matters communicated with those charged with governance, we determined those matters that were of most significance in the audit of the financial statements of the current period and are therefore the key audit matters. We described these matters in our auditor's report.
